FIRST BALLOT SHOWS FLINT IS STILL SHY.

He Gets Forty-seven Votes in Legislature, Leaving Him Short Thirteen.

Attempt to Hold General Caucus of All Members Results in Failure—No Sign of Discouragement in Bard's Camp—Knight's Supporters Rally Around Him—Slump in Fisk Enthusiasm.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

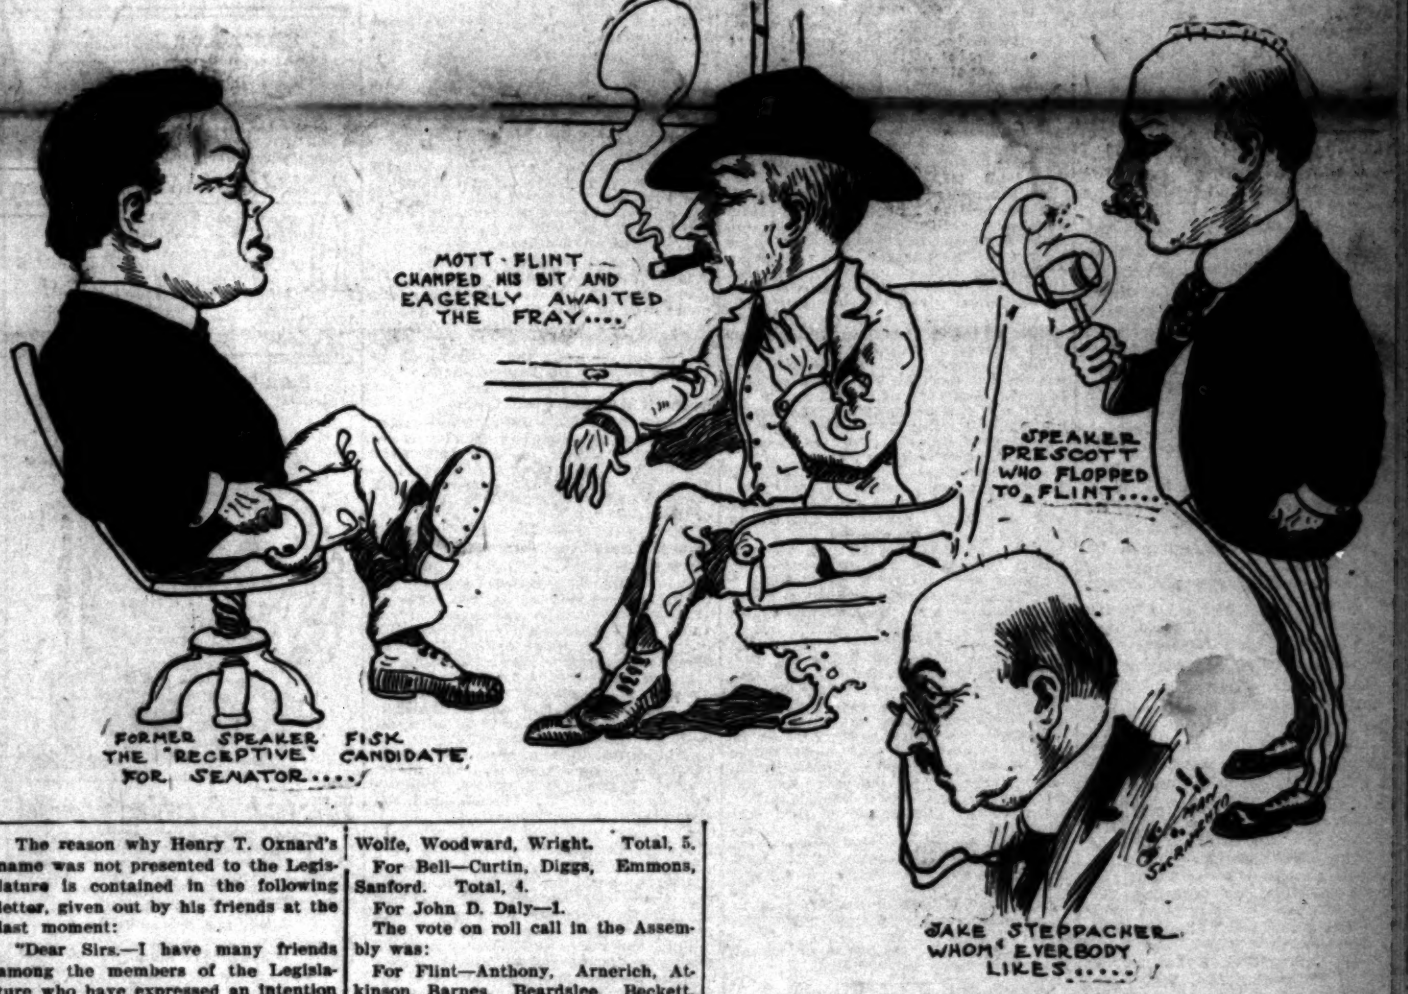

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—The following is the total vote cast today by the Legislature for candidates for the United States Senate:

Flint	47
Bard	22
Knight	20
Fisk	19
Brooks	1
Daly	1

The result of the balloting for United States Senator in the Senate was as follows:
Flint, 16; Knight, 6; Bard, 7; Fisk, 5; Bell, 4; John D. Daly, 1.
The result of the balloting for United States Senator in the Assembly was as follows:
Flint, 31; Bard, 15; Fisk, 14; Knight, 14; Bell, 4; Brooks, 1.
Henry T. Oxnard's name was not placed before the Senate.
After the first ballot for United States Senator today both houses adjourned to meet at 12 o'clock tomorrow, to ballot in joint session.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 10.—When French, Hahn, Haskins, Keane, the time for nominating candidates for United States Senator arrived, a large gathering of spectators had assembled in both houses. Lobbies and galleries were filled with representative people from all portions of the State, and loud was the applause when a responsive chord was touched among the partisans.

For French—Hahn, Haskins, Keane, Lynch, Markey, Muenster, Nelson, Penfield, Rambo, Savage, Sampson, Ward, Total, 16.
For Knight—Irish, Leavitt, McKee, Ralston, Rush, Selva, Total, 6.
For Bard—Anderson, Behar, Broughen, Greenwell, Leake, Mattos, Rowell, Total, 7.
For Fisk—Coggins, Shortridge,

The reason why Henry T. Oxnard's name was not presented to the Legislature is contained in the following letter, given out by his friends at the last moment:

"Dear Sirs—I have many friends among the members of the Legislature who have expressed an intention of voting for me, but, being interested in securing the Senatorship for Southern California, and in pursuance of the policy under which I have been acting for some time, my name will not be formally presented to the Legislature today, nor will my friends be asked to vote for me until after a ballot or two has been taken.

"I have arrived at this conclusion through fear that a multiplicity of candidates from Southern California, in the preliminary balloting, might endanger its interests.

"However, should neither of the leading candidates secure the support necessary to elect, I shall expect my friends in the Legislature to be given an opportunity to exercise their preference for me.

(Signed) "H. T. OXNARD."

The strength of Abe Ruef's following in the Legislature has been thrown to Frank Flint for United States Senator. This action was taken this morning in a caucus held just before the houses convened.

McGowan, of the San Francisco delegation, said that he would vote for Knight, according to a pledge that he had made, but if the latter did not win on the first two ballots he would go over to Flint.

The vote on roll call in the Senate was:

is a vote taken, we will be found declaring for Bard, first, last and all the time.

That was virtually the declaration of the Bard supporters tonight and was the exact statement of a strong Bard supporter made in the presence of a score of his fellows and acquiesced in by them.

At 9 o'clock tonight, the Flint supporters endeavored to hold a general caucus in the Assembly chamber. Fifty-two members of both houses were present and two absent by reason of illness. This number being not sufficient to control things, the caucus adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Meantime, a meeting of Bard followers was held. Simultaneously, the Fisk and Knight men held meetings. At each of these gatherings it was decided to stand fast.

It was admitted at each that there would probably be defections from each of the anti-Flint camps, but it was stated that they would not be sufficient to supply the thirteen votes which Flint lacked today.

The danger which the Bard people see in the situation is that a sufficient number of wavering members may turn over to the Flint camp to make up for what Flint lacks. On the streets, the Flint people are claiming that his vote tomorrow will reach eighty or more. Their failure to secure a general caucus tonight has somewhat disconcerted them, but they are now working hard to secure at the general caucus tomorrow the requisite sixty votes. They may get them. The Bard managers say they will not.

THE FIRST BALLOT.
Bard, 22; Knight, 20; Fisk, 19; Flint, 47. That was the result of the first ballot for United States Senator today. Divided between the two houses, the vote was as follows: Senate—Bard, 7; Knight, 6; Fisk, 5; Flint, 16; Assembly—Bard, 15; Knight, 14; Fisk, 14; Flint, 31.

Thus did the machine, the railroad—and, so it is charged, the present administration—by combination make good the claim made months ago by the "organization" forces and by Flint himself that he would have nearly fifty votes on the first ballot. That was his first claim. His second was

FOR EXTRA SESSION.

Revision of Tariff to Be Secured.

The President Favors Earliest Possible Date for Meeting of the House.

Thorough Examination of the Schedules Now Timely He Believes.

Panama Railroad Inquiry Bomb for Statue of Frederick the Great.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—The President favors the earliest possible action looking to revision by Congress of the tariff. He so informed the Senators and Representatives who were in conference with him at the White House last Saturday, and he has made plain his position to others since that conference. He will call the Fifty-first Congress into extraordinary session as soon as the committees have indicated that they are prepared to submit tariff measure for passage.

One of those present at the conference Saturday said today, in view of the many conflicting stories published regarding the meeting, that the President informed them that, while he did not believe in any sweeping revision of the tariff and would abide at that on the second ballot he would receive a sufficient number of votes to elect him. Whether his second prediction will be as good as his first remains to be seen. There are those who doubt it and who say they believe the end is not yet.

That the anti-Flint forces received a serious body blow, the effect of which they fully realize, needs but a glance at the total vote to disclose.

There are 119 members of the Legislature and sixty are necessary to elect. Flint lacks 13 of this number; Bard, 28; Knight, 40. The other candidates may be eliminated.

The nineteen votes cast for Fisk, who, by the way, appears to have been simply a stalking horse, could decide it for Flint. Added to Bard's or Knight's vote, they would secure only to reduce the number which Flint has gained. Add the Bard, Knight and Fisk votes together and cast them for either of them and they would barely elect, but such addition is believed to be impossible.

Give to all the anti-Flint forces all the votes except those of the Democrats and they, by combination, might be able to elect somebody besides Flint, but until there are material losses by Flint, which are not expected, the combination is not expected, the combination is not expected, the combination is not expected.

is concerned, he would be willing to have Congress in session during the summer months. He has indicated his entire readiness to remain in Washington next summer, if Congress will undertake at that time the consideration of a tariff measure; but Congress, thus far, has shown no disposition to accede to the proposition of a hot-weather session.

While no decision of a definite character has been reached as to the time of the extraordinary session, it is reasonable to believe that if one should be called to meet next autumn, it probably will be in October.

It was added that there is not the least prospect of differences so radical arising between the President and the Republican leaders in Congress over the tariff question as to cause a split in the party. While the President is deeply in earnest in his desire for tariff revision, he regards the session as one of expediency, inasmuch as no principle is at stake.

RAILROAD RATES.
On another question, however, that of legislation relating to interstate freight rates of railroads, his mind is made up. He will fight for that legislation, and fight hard. He hopes to secure from Congress some definite action regarding that legislation at the present session, but if he does not, he will bring the subject again before Congress at the proposed extraordinary session, and will urge with all his power the crystallization into law of the recommendations he has already made to Congress on that question.

The freight-rate question does not regard as one of expediency. He holds that it is a subject in which a great moral principle is involved, and one very near to a people of the country. He regards it, in fact, as the paramount issue at this time.

APPROPRIATIONS.
Some concern was given at the conference to the subject of appropriations to be authorized at the present session of Congress. The President originally approved a disposition of Congress to hold the appropriations down to the lowest possible limit, but he urged very strongly that a naval appropriations should not be materially disturbed, saying that the best guarantee of peace for this country lies in a strong and powerful navy, and that the naval program, as mapped out, should be tried into effect without the dropping of a single vessel. The President stated that Congress should authorize the construction not merely of one or two cruisers, but of fighting ships, battleships, and he expressed a hope that an agreement with him this regard might be reached in Congress.

HOUSE'S RESPONSIBILITY.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Whether there will be an extra session of Congress for a revision of the tariff is a question, in the expressed opinion of a number of the Senate leaders, that is determined by the President of the House. In other words, several Senators contend that the responsibility for tariff revision rests with the President and a bill is passed by the House.

Senators who place on the burden of an extra session the responsibility of the House, in making the relative positions of the legislative branches of Congress, are not refrained from advancing the argument that the Senate does not represent the people as does the House, and that if opposition to an extra session is made effective, it will not be the Senate that erects the barrier, but Senators are to be found who are anxious to discuss the matter for publication, beyond saying that if a tariff revision is called, it should not be held over autumn, to be convened in October preferably. The argument in favor of a later session is that the members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House and the Finance Committee of the Senate would have opportunity to investigate the details for a revision, and thus arrive at a better understanding of legislative needs before the session is called.

There is a lively exchange of views going on in the House. While no organized poll of its members has been made, and caucuses by State delegations are not being held, it is known that the Speaker, as well as several members of the Ways and Means Committee, are collating the names of members personally. The approach to a poll of members on a subject that has been long considered by Representative Tamm of Texas, the Republican "whip" of the house, is a decided sentiment in favor of no action whatever on the subject of tariff revision. The White House conference has no definite form, nor has any other phase of the question been decided into anything tangible.

THE CONGRESS.
CLOSING SESSION.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—SENATE.—In beginning of today's session of the Senate, Mr. Cullum, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported the Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill, and gave notice that he would call it up for action at the opportunity.

A number of petitions for the expulsion of Senator Smoot from the Senate were presented to Mr. Daniel, who presented the petitions before the people have the right to send them, but not because I recognize the propriety of these petitions.

Mr. Fulton called up the bill authorizing the payment of damages to American fishermen in Bering Sea for injuries sustained prior to the arbitration of 1903, and the measure was debated at some length.

INDIAN TERRITORY AFFAIRS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Mr. Stewart presented an amendment to the bill providing for control of affairs in Indian Territory by a superintendent to be appointed by the President and paid a salary of $15,000 a year. He said the Secretary of the Interior had drafted a similar measure and read a letter from that official saying legislation of this character is necessary.

The committee amendments to the Statehood Bill, to which there was no objection, were accepted, but many passed over with the understanding that they should have further consideration.

Mr. Gorman gave notice of an amendment limiting the provision for the payment of 10 per cent. on the $5,000,000 loan proposed for the benefit of the Oklahoma school fund.

Mr. Newlands urged the amendment of the bill so as to prevent the monopolization of desirable lands and the chase should be admitted to purchase more land than was necessary to support a family.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—HOUSE.—In the House today, the Army and Indian Appropriation bills were reported. The committee amendments to the bill for the Secretary of the Interior to inform the House whether or not any of the principal tribes of Indians in the United States are being expended for support of any Indian contract schools other than government schools, and if so, what authority he had for so doing.

The House then went into committee on the bill to improve certain conditions.

FREDERICK THE GREAT.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—An unsuccessful attempt was made today by one or more civilians to blow up the statue of Frederick the Great, recently presented to this government by the Emperor of Germany, and now standing in the War College grounds. A charge of explosives with lighted fuse was attached to the fence surrounding the statue, but was removed by an employee before it exploded. No damage resulted to the statue, or to property of persons. Prompt measures were taken to detain the perpetrators of the crime before they left the grounds, but they did not succeed. The police authorities have been notified and the information is being placed before them with a view to arresting the guilty parties.

The police have located the carriage in which the party who attempted to blow up the statue was conveyed to the vicinity, but have not yet located the culprit. They believe that the attempt was made by a crank who hung a large fuse bomb on the fence surrounding the statue; that a negro who arrived on the scene immediately afterward, discovered the bomb and threw it away, whereupon it exploded.

LATEST FINDINGS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Detectives have learned that a negro hackman named Arthur Carter took the man thought to have perpetrated the affair from the vicinity of the statue. Apparently he had just arrived in the city. His baggage consisted of a small and worn dress-suit case. The man told the hackman to drive slowly to the barracks grounds. When the statue was reached the stranger alighted, ran up the steps leading to the westerly terrace of the War College, and disappeared.

A minute later he ran back toward the barracks, and the man followed him. The man was carrying a small and worn dress-suit case. The man told the hackman to drive slowly to the barracks grounds. When the statue was reached the stranger alighted, ran up the steps leading to the westerly terrace of the War College, and disappeared.

Post Baker Reiger, at the barracks, saw a car drive up, and the man jumped out and ran toward the statue with the satchel under his arm, from which smoke was issuing, but he was not seen by the masters. The man had hung the suit case by a wire hook to the iron fence surrounding the statue. A few minutes later a negro discovered it and placed it from the fence with a piece of scaffolding. As it fell to the ground it exploded, blowing a hole in the ground and scattering a few splinters of wood upon the steps of the pedestal no harm was done.

On the occasion of the explosion, the hurried building of a small watch box beside the statue, where a watchman will be stationed all the time hereafter.

That is, fitting them with business suits is one of the prominent features of this store. We pride ourselves on the good appearance of our business men customers. We take this satisfaction in their success that our clothes have something to do with it—so much for appearance—but those level-headed gentlemen don't buy because "it's us"—they see the superiority of the clothes. You better follow their suit—it will lead you here every time.

RUEF'S SECRET CAUCUS.
Late last night, Ruef gathered his members about him in secret caucus and because of the absence of some of the members it was impossible for them to determine what they would do. At least, this was the announcement made; and, without rendering any decision, their caucus was adjourned until this morning. At 10 o'clock this morning Ruef again called his cohorts together. He had told

OXNARD NOT IN IT.

OXNARD's name was not presented to the Legislature, and it will not be, according to the statement of some of his managers. His candidity with the Ventura convention has defeated his overhonesty. He still believes that he has secured active work, that work is evidence.

Whatever may be the result, one stands out in this contest as a man of honest intentions.

He is a man unaccustomed to the devious ways of professional politicians like those who opposed him, but a man who is thoroughly convinced of the power of the virtue believing that others are honest.

As man is . . . O. Gerberding, he made me hard fight here. . . . He is a man of . . . ; either not Bard or some other. . . . The man is chosen, Gerberding will remember here for the manner which he has performed his duties. . . . He received a telegram from informing him that his war was dying and requesting that he come at once. . . . He was a man of trust, a man of

Our great commonwealth of the South has indeed, particularly its own people, a right to be proud of its growing industries, its teeming and productive valleys are yielding to the soil the fruits of the earth that obtain elsewhere. Her fruit industries alone are clamoring for an outlet to the world.

From the stalwart ranks of her citizenship she presents for your consideration a man, young in years, strong and full of life, who, by reason of his representation in his sympathies, one who represents in his great-hearted broadness of vision, the truest and best characteristics of the ideal successful man; that keynote of the highest character and the noblest of life, the saving grace of common sense.

He is part and parcel of our State's growth and development, having come to this State as a young man, from a humble start in life by virtue of his native abilities and integrity of character, he has achieved the high positions of great trust and confidence. As District Attorney for the Southern District of California, unaided and alone he has won the respect and esteem of the State. His personal efforts have equipped his mind and his heart for those achievements.

He is a man of the people, but of the rank of not only our lawyers, but of the people of our whole community.

have known this gentleman for many years and have been closely identified with him since he came to this city. In this way I now name the Honorable K. Bard.

HOUSEMAN NAMES FLINT.

Assemblyman Hunter of Los Angeles placed the name Frank P. Flint in nomination. He said:

"In accordance with the requirements of the law, the Legislature is met today for the purpose of electing a member to the United States Senate. No higher duty devolves upon us during our respective terms than to select a man who will be a realization of a heavy responsibility that we proceed to the performance of our duty in this regard.

"Somewhere in the State, with her wilderness area, with her splendid length of coast line, with her excellent harbors and her magnificent industries, there is a man who rises above those of the middle and northern sections of the State—needs a man who will represent the people of the United States Senate a man who is fully able to the situation.

"I now name the person of Frank P. Flint of Los Angeles. Broad of intellect, filled with noble purposes, with a strong character and of unquestionable integrity, he is a profound student in the law and has an extensive and accurate knowledge of Statecraft.

"In behalf of the district I represent

The mine proprietors began rejecting requests for the closure of the mines when they are received, the miners, according to a previous decision, do not go to work when it is time for their next shift. The miners, who are now facing the emigration of their own families, are notifying the miners to return to work or be discharged, with the exception of the miners of the mines at seven Dortmund works, who went out today.

The proprietors affirm that they are not to agree to the demands to include the time of going into and returning from the shafts in the wage scale. The miners, however, demand alterations in grading, the miners claim the owners claim Germany is losing its position in the international competitive field, because coal itself and in manufactures by the coal industry is being supplied to other countries, it is asserted, is in store.

Here Hub, a Socialist member of the Reichstag, said that he had described the miners as working naked in water for the equivalent of 50 cents a day. He said that the miners were not and fatally affected by a worm disease because their life is always in darkness. He said that the miners in the mines in five shafts, have gone out

The cure for this common ailment is found in the food he feeds to his horse. It is the food he feeds to his horse that makes the difference between a horse that is healthy and one that is sick. To acquire a perfect knowledge of the food that is the cause of stomach troubles in the horse, and the means by which normal digestion is restored, is of course a matter of considerable importance.

According to Dr. H. M. Smith, of the University of California, the best treatment for the horse after taking, composed of liniment, a little castor oil, and—

Commission, is quoted by the Echo de Paris as having said in an interview that he had submitted to Emperor Nicholas a programme for reorganization of the navy, which is absolutely indispensable for success in the war against Japan. Twenty months will be necessary for its execution. Admiral Doussoff thought the prospect for Vice-Admiral Rojstvensky's squadron was hopeless.

He unhesitatingly declared that he considered a provisional peace would shortly be probable, Japan retaining Port Arthur and other territories which she has occupied. Russia, meanwhile, the admiral said, would prepare an invincible fleet for a future effort.

"We declare, once for all, that Japan has never had designs upon the Asiatic possessions of any European power. Its present war against Russia is solely for national defense against the menace of Russian invasion of the Far East."

CONNECTION WITH THE CAPTURE OF A FORT BY THE MORO ARMY, WHICH MAJ. SCOTT, GOVERNOR OF THE ISLAND, HAD ATTEMPTED TO SECURE BY PEACEFUL MEANS SEVERAL MONTHS AGO.

RECENTLY, WHILE ATTEMPTING TO SECURE recruits on the island, the kindly means taken by Maj. Scott were mistaken by the surrounding Moros and trouble brewing necessitated forcible action. The Moro leader has been killed and the fort has been destroyed. The American troops were assisted by the gunboat Queros, in command of Lieut. Walker.

Side Talks By The Office Boy

Geese whizz! a fellow don't get a minute in this store to think about anything but business. It may be good business to do the way they're doing now, but there's a kid who thinks they're nutty. Why, we got in lots and lots of swell goods a few days before Christmas, and just because the sizes are getting broken a little they take and sell them away down below cost and lose more on the dozen or two left over than they made on the whole shooting match. Another thing I can't understand is when we're doing all kinds of business, and every man's busy, why they want to do more business. Of course I don't blame people for taking advantage of a sale in a store like this. Why, some of the men almost cried when they marked the prices on some goods in their department. One of the Hat men told me that most of the imported hats we were selling at $1.95 cost $4.00 per dozen wholesale.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

West Adams Sale.—Mrs. Harriet Probasco has purchased from Alfred W. Morgan, lot 7, block 7, West Adams Heights tract, improved with two-story frame residence; consideration, $2000.

Cummock Reading.—Mrs. Bertha King Baker will read "If I Were King" at Cummock Hall tonight. The play will be remembered for its great presentation by the man for whom it was written—Edward H. Southern.

Boys Home.—A. E. Broton buys of W. H. Hadley, through Althea Broton, the handsome ten-room, two-story frame dwelling at No. 1125 West Thirtieth street, with lot 1000 feet; consideration, $11,000.

Grand Avenue Sales.—Mrs. Fannie Mansfield has purchased of Mrs. Ida D. Webster, through C. C. Tatum & Co., lot 1000 feet, with small frame cottage, No. 129 South Grand avenue; consideration named. Samuel W. Buell has secured the same grantee, a similar lot, just north; consideration, $2000.

Texas.—The Texas Society of Southern California has elected the following officers: President, Col. T. C. Thornton; vice-presidents, Dr. J. A. McCallie, J. H. Wood and J. D. Drew; secretary, M. C. Harris; treasurer, J. L. Burton; sergeant-at-arms, E. D. Moore. Dining followed.

Palms Win.—Word was received last evening that the debate between the University of Southern California and the University of the Pacific, had been won by the northern university. Messrs. Scott and Washburn were the debaters from the local Methodist school and the exercises were held at San José.

Died Suddenly.—Valvular disease of the heart was the cause of Mrs. Prudence Davis's death, as determined by a coroner's jury yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Davis died suddenly at an early hour yesterday morning at her residence at No. 529 East Fifth street. No doctor was in attendance, and the inquest resulted.

Bad Financing Charged.—G. W. Bellamy, a negro, was arrested last night on charges of passing worthless checks. Detectives were searching for Bellamy when he went to the Police station and gave himself up. He is charged with having passed several worthless checks, aggregating about $10 on street merchants, but to deny guilt.

Neighborhood Watch Name.—People of the vicinity of Twenty-third street and Union avenue are seeking a name for their locality. A meeting of residents was held last evening at Henderson Hall to organize an improvement association. Benet D. Brown was elected president and E. W. Granville secretary. Those officers and J. A. Harris, Joe A. Campbell and M. Horn were appointed a committee to recommend a suitable name.

Duties Infringement.—A suit in equity was filed yesterday in the United States Circuit Court by the General Compressed Air House-Cleaning Company of St. Louis and the Compressed Air House-Cleaning Company of Los Angeles, against the Compressed Air and Suction Dust Removing Company of San Francisco, for infringement of patents. The bill of complaint alleges that the defendants are endeavoring to organize a corporation in Los Angeles for the sale and use of suction methods, which infringes upon the complainant's invention.

Espejo Line Open.—Traffic was resumed over the washed-out district on the Southern Pacific near Beaumont yesterday morning, and the three overland routes to Los Angeles arrived in Los Angeles, ten minutes apart, just before 3 o'clock. The Sunland Limited and Golden State Limited, due in the afternoon, were delayed twelve hours by the wreck of a freight train on the Tucson division and did not reach the Arcade depot until 3 o'clock this morning. Repairs to the tracks damaged by flood have been rushed, and it was stated that "on time" will be the schedule today, unless more rain falls in San Geronimo Pass.

Invited Death.—An old Mexican, unidentified, with three pipes and a sack of tobacco as his sole possessions, was evidently determined to die under the wheels of an electric car and finally succeeded yesterday on his fifth attempt. While walking between the tracks of the Pacific Electric line, midway between Bait's and Newland stations on the "short line" to Pasadena, he deliberately stepped in front of a Monrovia car that was approaching at the rate of twenty miles an hour. He was hurled forty feet into the ditch and was dead when picked up by a member of the Los Angeles Police Department. Four different crews of the cars that pass over this right of way reported that it had been necessary to stop to prevent running down the old Mexican, who seemed to be stupefied and would not get off the track in response to warning whistles.

Not a Mormon.—Mrs. E. D. Sutton of Provo, Utah, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles, and who is a sister of George H. D. Sutton, who has been reported as a probable candidate for election to the United States Senate from Utah, denies the statements made in a telegraphic dispatch from Salt Lake City, which was published in The Times yesterday. Mrs. Sutton says her brother is not a Mormon, and never was affiliated with the Mormon Church; that his wife is not a Mormon and never was and that, although her name was Lee before her marriage, she is in no way related to the Danites chief, John D. Lee, who was executed by the United States government. Mrs. Sutton's statements are substantiated by J. H. Keely of Salt Lake City, who is an old friend of the family, and who is also in Los Angeles for the winter.

The Cecilian Piano

Combines in a single compact instrument an upright piano of the highest grade, and a Cecilian Piano Player, inside the piano. The Cecilian piano is a perfect piano for hand-playing. Its tone and other qualities are in the slightest degree impaired by the presence of the Cecilian within its case. When played by the fingers the Cecilian attachment is not in evidence. But move a slide in the front of the case, and you may produce a play by means of a Cecilian music roll any one of the compositions included in the Cecilian's repertory.

The Cecilian piano may be enjoyed by everyone, irrespective of any previous knowledge of music. It is the instrument which will not stand idle, no matter how busy home it may go.

The Cecilian Piano.

Combining a new and hitherto unheard of condition in piano business. The public is giving emphatic evidence of the approval of the principle that a piano now cannot be considered complete unless it unites the methods of playing—by hand and by means of the Cecilian attachment. This marvelous instrument is on demonstration at our salesrooms; purchasable on easy terms, and planes of other makes taken in exchange at fair valuation.

The Cecilian Piano will be used at the regular Cecilian recital, to be given at 8 o'clock. You will want to hear it.

WATER HUB DEEP.

Ducommun Street Converted Into Sink Hole of Disease by Storm Water and Lack of Drainage. Many Sick and Others Excited.

IF IT wasn't for having to take medicine to knock out the malaria and sore throats, the youngsters on lower Ducommun street would be enjoying a picnic. It's like a Robinson Crusoe island down there, with the cottages on both sides of the street cut off by the storm water, with the exception that enough boys and girls are confined to the water-bound regions to lend variety to life.

Ever since the rain of more than a week ago, troubles have been accumulating on Ducommun street. Matters have gone from bad to worse until the situation has become alarming, and the residents claim they have appealed to the powers-that-be without obtaining any relief. They are loud in their complaints.

At tomorrow's meeting of the Eighth ward relief. George R. Cooper says he has been referred from the Health Department to the Superintendent of Streets; from thence to the Councilman for the ward; and then back to the Health Department—all without results; and that meantime the situation is aggravating. His tenants are moving out, and the neighbors are down with sickness. Among those seriously ill are Otto G. Quandt and family, and the family of Green Adams, while numerous children have sore throats and tonsillitis.

The trouble with that section of Ducommun street appears to be that the water is not being carried off naturally to reverse itself and run the storm waters uphill. The natural slope of the street toward the Los Angeles River; and when Vignes street was improved, its grade was raised over two feet, with the intention of turning the storm waters down eastward on Ducommun. Then came a Flooded Section of Ducommun Street.

Ward Improvement Association, the condition of Ducommun street will receive special attention; and at this meeting it is expected the new Street Superintendent will be present. A demonstration of conditions is expected to speedily move the new officer to action.

After the first rain, the water stood stagnant and a thick and foul-smelling green scum began to overpread the street lake, which reached to the very entrances to some of the cottages. People began to sicken, and at present a dozen families in that neighborhood have a member or two confined to the house by illness. Property owners claim that they made the round at the City Hall, but a sort of "circumlocution office" system stood in the way of their getting relief. lot of railroad and gas work extensions at the Center-street end of the thoroughfare; and when the street got back to normal condition it was found that it was decidedly "way-backed." In the center of the district water now stands hub deep on wagons.

It is said that at one time a drainage pipe was placed at the Center-street intersection, to run underneath the railway tracks and discharge into the river. If it is there, no one seems to be able to find it, and the water is persistent in its stay.

The last rain had the effect of displacing in some measure the disgusting green scum that floated on the lake's surface; but it also increased the water level, and the result was that taggers actually find egress from their lot frontage impossible.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

NOT TO DEAL WITH BROKERS.

LOCAL PRODUCERS ARE LIKELY TO TAKE SUCH STAND.

Organization Effected Yesterday and Officers Chosen—Plan for Marketing the Product to be Submitted at Later Meeting—Outlook is Said to be Favorable.

The Los Angeles Oil Fields Association was formally launched yesterday afternoon at a meeting at the office of the Parker Oil Company, No. 224 Hennepin building. The following producers in the city signed the roll of membership: Jesse Yarnell, Dorn, Bruce & Price, A. E. Clappitt, Burlington Oil Company, British-California Oil Company, F. R. Kellogg, Estate of L. Gardner, Young Shaw, Parker Oil Company, L. G. Parker, Wellington Oil Company, Oceanic Oil Company, Knight & Son, E. Forthard, Palm Oil Company and Allen Craig. There are others who have signified an intention of coming into the association. Several of those who signed represent several companies that are to come in. Among those are the O. Donnell, the Alliance, the Union Consolidated and others.

Officers who were elected are: President, C. E. Price; first vice-president, W. L. Young; second vice-president, Allen Craig; secretary, R. Kohnert; treasurer, A. E. Clappitt. These officers will constitute the Executive Committee which will formulate permanent bylaws and a plan for marketing the oil which will be submitted at a later meeting. Yesterday a rough draft of bylaws, setting forth the name and purposes of the organization was signed. There will be no difficulty about the changes, as provision is made for amending bylaws by a two-thirds vote of the members.

As yet nothing has been done toward determining what plan will be followed in marketing oil, but it is likely that all, or nearly all, companies will put in all of their product not under contract. There was a strong disposition on the part of several present in favor of doing no business with the brokers or small middlemen, but to deal either with the consumers direct or with the great marketing concerns, the Standard, the Associated and the Union, in the belief that this course will make more money for the producers.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday afternoon, the 19th inst., when the committee may be ready to submit plans. Several of those present expressed the opinion that the outlook is for better prices, and that 40 and 35-cent oil days are numbered. One told of having just sold 1200 barrels at 50 cents, and that, too, to a party who had tried for 40 cents just before the holidays, declaring then that he would have no trouble at all getting his price later.

STANDARD AT COLTON. Colton is to be the Standard Oil Company's distributing point for a large section of the surrounding country, which will be supplied by teams. The company has completed a large barn, wagon shed and pump-house and is now building a large warehouse and foundations for a number of tanks. The warehouses and tanks at San Bernardino are to be moved to Colton and the former city will get its oil from there in future.

CHICAGO NOTABLES.

Arrival of Wife of Mayor of Chicago.

Mr. Harrison to New Orleans.

Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, wife of the Mayor of Chicago, arrived yesterday afternoon at the Van Nuys Hotel. In her party are her son, Carter H. Harrison, Jr., her daughter, Edith O. Harrison, and William Preston Harrison, brother of the Mayor. Mayor Harrison accompanied the party as far as New Orleans, returning from there to Chicago. He will come to Los Angeles after the Chicago city election in April.

The Harrison party got in more than twenty-four hours late, their train having been delayed by wrecks. They have come here for the benefit of the health of Carter Harrison, Jr., the fourteen-year-old son.

Mrs. Harrison expects to rent a house in or near Los Angeles. She does not expect to go to San Diego as had been planned. Her idea now is to be near the sea, but her desires will be guided by the advice of the specialists who is to care for her son.

William Preston Harrison, the Mayor's brother, was the Democratic candidate for Congress in a Chicago district, but was defeated by a Republican.

SEQUEL TO FIRE.

Santa Monica to Lose the Relics of Experiment Station—Going to Chicago.

The prospects are that Santa Monica will lose its one-time pride and joy, the university experiment station. It was stated at the Horticultural Commissioners' room yesterday that negotiations are on for the United States government to absorb the remnants of the station left from the fire and combine it with the government forestry station at Chico. The government formerly ran the experiment station in Santa Monica Cañon, turning it over to the State University at the end of Abbott Kinney's disastrous administration.

OFFER TO SELL BOSS SMUGGLER.

DOUBTFUL-LOOKING CUSTOMER WOULD BETRAY ALVAREZ.

Head of Wholesale Chinese-Importing Gang Has Successfully Evaded Authorities—School for Chinamen Conducted Near Ensenada—Strange Proposition.

A strange proposition has been made to the United States government officials of this city.

A fugitive smuggler has been put up for sale like an unbranded steer, payment to be made on delivery.

The offer was made to an attorney of this city; he is connected with the defense of an alleged smuggler—a member of the gang, Pedro Alvarez. The fugitive, it is believed to have been based.

A dirty, doubtful-looking Mexican came to the lawyer's office; said he knew where Pedro Alvarez was in hiding, less than a hundred miles from Los Angeles. The Mexican stated that Pedro has been in this place since his sensational escape from the officers here some months ago.

He said he had made the same offer, to turn traitor against Alvarez, to a government official, and had been turned down.

If there is nothing in the story, the government will be forced enough to lay hands on Pedro Alvarez. He is thought to be the leader of the gang of smugglers who have been scuttling Chinese across the border at a wholesale rate never equaled before on this Coast since the exclusion act went into effect.

One conspirator is now in jail, but his friends claim that he was only a pawn in the game. Alvarez and another Mexican are alleged to have been the king pins. They never have been able to lay hands on the other unknown Mexican, or even find out anything about him; Alvarez was once in custody, but got away by a slick trick.

He was living, entirely unsuspected by his neighbors, in a pretty home in Boyle Heights, doing a teaming business. His wife still lives there.

Good work on the part of the United States Marshal connected him with the smuggling of the "chinese." He was arrested at his home here. He was paid and surprised. He asked permission to step into the house a minute to bid good-bye to his wife; he has not been seen by the authorities since; in a fit of absent-mindedness he went out the back door and forgot to return to the officers.

His brother-in-law, Francisco Comanche, was taken safely to jail, and now behind the bars. His trial is coming in the near future.

Comanche stoutly insists that he was not in the game, but that a third, a Chinese, was the smuggler.

If so, he must have been a very busy man. In the past six months, alone, twenty-nine Chinamen, believed to have been smuggled into the United States by this gang, have been deported. Within the past year, the government has sent back 164, most of whom have enriched the pockets of this gang.

They operated near San Diego. Francisco Comanche lived in the hills about Pala, most conveniently situated.

The Chinamen invariably landed at Massana and came north by steamer to Ensenada.

And, by the way, the vicinity of Ensenada has much to answer for. It is claimed that a regular school for Chinese is in operation there. The Chinamen, though coaches, scatter themselves all over the place, as the ranch hands; all the while they are picking up pointers for working their way across the 1st.

VISITING POLITICIANS.

Men Who Make Democratic Wheels go Round in Chicago Drawn to Other Halls.

The arrival of Mayor Harrison's family party resulted in the gathering of a number of Chicago city officials and politicians yesterday at the Van Nuys. Among them were Edward M. LaHiff, Cook County Central Committee; Alberman Thomas Carey of the Twenty-ninth Ward, chairman of the Democratic County Central Committee; and M. J. Doherty, Superintendent of Streets of Chicago. Mr. LaHiff formerly was Mayor Harrison's secretary.

"Mayor Harrison has served four terms," said Mr. LaHiff. "He will not be a candidate at the coming election. There is an abundance of good Democratic candidates for Mayor, however, among them being Judge Dunne, Charles Wacker, the brewer, Ernest Hummel, present City Treasurer; John Barton Payne, Charles Gunther, candy manufacturer and former city official, and William Prentiss, lawyer.

"The Republicans probably will nominate John M. Harlan, who has been defeated in previous contests by Mr. Harrison. I have been reported as being in favor of an even vote supporter of Mr. Harlan. I am in favor of his nomination, because I believe he can be defeated by any other candidate, whoever he may be, but I am in no sense his supporter."

Mr. LaHiff will return to Chicago to attend a meeting of the Democratic Central Committee in two weeks.

WESTERN IRON WORKS.

The annual meeting of the Western Iron Works was held yesterday, when E. A. Guthrie, president, with the American Steel and Wire Company of Pittsburgh and St. Louis, was elected president and manager for the following year. Guthrie owns a majority of the stock of the corporation and represents large capitalists of New York, who were formerly prominent in the iron and steel world and who sold out their interests to the United States Steel Company.

POULTRY FANCIERS OF COUNTY MAKE BRAVE PARADE.

Expert's Critical Look at the Birds in the Pens at the Temple—Varieties that Are Particularly Well Represented—Where Are the Web-feet?

Los Angeles poultry fanciers are to be congratulated upon the parade of high-class fowl, now penned in Temple Auditorium. The average quality of the exhibit is in no wise inferior to its quantity, which is high. Inasmuch as the present show is the largest this city has ever seen.

Last year's prize winners are out-ranked in several classes this winter, and it is not a rash assertion to predict that the birds, which secure first here this week will be able to earn fancy ribbons in any show that will be held during the year, East or West. Southern California has come to the front as a poultry center with surprising rapidity and now a big demand for local fowls is making itself manifest all through the Middle West.

In the heavier classes, the showing is one that would afford keen gratification to any fancier. The Orpingtons, Black Buff and Jubilee varieties, in particular, are represented by several dozen birds, several of which will come very near the standard of perfection for this now popular breed. The Orpingtons are big, handsome fowls, suggestive of good dinner, and they seem to be a very good all-around bird in this climate, doing rather better than some of the varieties which have proved successful in colder climates.

A few years ago, no one ever heard of the Orpington chicken, but ceaseless effort among breeders finally evolved the type and it is now one of the fowls without which no ranch can be counted complete.

The Brahmas and Cochins are not seen in the proportion of last year, though they are by no means overlooked. Newer breeds seem to have usurped the place of these once popular poultry giants. Those shown are good representatives of the breed—huge, clumsy, leg-feathered fowls of stupid aspect.

The Plymouth Rocks seem to have lost none of their friends to judge by the number of them that are entered. Both barred and white rocks are strong, the exhibit of this breed taking up a good quarter of the show space.

No show is complete nowadays without its proportion of the Wyandotte white, black, partridge and gold penciled. They are all good sized chickens, shapely, and marked like ornamental fowl. Many high-class pens are being inspected by bird lovers at present, and the matter of first awards bids fair to prove no ten-minute task.

Blue Andalusians, perhaps the most oddly colored of present breeds, are well represented in the center of the hall, where the military uniform of the brightly plumaged cockerels attracts a great deal of attention from such spectators as are not familiar with this rather uncommon variety.

The Andalusians as might be guessed from their name, are of the Spanish family from which sprang the Minorcas, the old, familiar "Black Spanish" of boyhood days on the farm, and some of the African breeds.

Of rare chickens there is a fair sprinkling, perhaps the most unique being a horned Rhode Island, which looks like a cross between a Rocky Mountain goat and a Red Indian Game. A horny spiral crests grows out of the creature's cranium, giving it the aspect of a deformed fowl.

Games are rather poorly represented. Those shown are good enough, but the truth is, the game bird is of little use except as a fighter, and one rooster is enough to kill off a barnyard full of higher priced and more valuable cocks. So for that reason the breeding of game birds has been neglected for the cultivation of the more useful breeds—chickens which do not lose valuable flesh running around hunting for a fight. Red Indian games, a few whites, and some game bantams are exhibited.

Examples of the various sorts are plentiful; they are the most popular of ornamental fowl. Dwarfs of all the big varieties are now bred; and the contrast—say a bantam cock and the real article—is amusing indeed. These little things are of no practical use, but they always attract much attention and are thought very "cute" by the ladies.

The Leghorns, brown and white, are shown in numbers, but not of any better class than last winter's. A few hooded Polish fowl, looking for all the world like so many football players with their shaggy topknots, win considerable attention. The showman, however, can more readily identify some of the new breeds. A poultry show is of chief value to the breeders as an educator, and unless every facility is extended to those desiring information it falls of its object.

Some good old English Dorkings are hidden away in a corner of the hall. They are an almost forgotten chicken, their place being taken by the Wyandottes, Rocks, Orpingtons and similar fowls.

The ducks and geese are conspicuous by their absence, comparatively speaking. Some ornamental good turkeys are to be seen and a few pairs of big Toulouse geese, but the web-footed part of the show is not up to last year.

LIBRARIAN TALKS.

The Child's Study Circle of the California street school met yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock with a new president, Mrs. M. Alexander. After the regular routine business a fine programme was given. Miss Blanchard of the children's department public library, gave a talk on children's books. Miss Stella Callender sang a solo. It was decided to have home talent instead of securing outside speakers, and to discuss subjects of interest to mothers.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Spring-street property owners yesterday petitioned the Police Commission to reconsider the act of its predecessor in granting to T. C. Bowe a saloon license transfer for No. 218, south.

Police Commissioners Mason and Johnson yesterday expressed their disapproval of the policy permitting games of any kind to be played in saloons. The chief reported that seven-eighths of the saloonkeepers in the city hold saloon licenses.

City Assessor Lewis yesterday suspended his chief deputy, Oscar Nunnally, and preferred charges against him with the Civil Service Commission.

Prof. W. J. Bailey of the Los Angeles Military School, is being sued in the Township Court for damages arising out of the bite of a dog.

It has developed that Henry Prohl, who died at the County Hospital and was buried in the potter's field, left money in a local bank.

A curious license situation has developed at Pico and Key, where the "wet" contingent have won.

All day yesterday was consumed in Justice Chamber's court in the examination of Charles Murray, charged with causing the death of C. C. Foss by kicking him in the side.

Old Ernest Merkell, who was so willing to go to the gallows for the murder of his wife and Mrs. Franklin Rose, now claims he did not have a fair show in the justice's court and has been granted a retrial.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR SALOONISTS.

Commissioners Ask Police for Detailed Report of Holders and Locations of All Liquor Permits. Gloomy Outlook for Holders of Borrowed Licenses.

Trouble appears ahead for the saloonkeepers, who are already stampeding for cover before the new Police Commission catches them.

No contest with issuing a license that a saloonkeeper failed to return to the city at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning is not sufficient excuse for selling several hundred dollars' worth of liquor during the day, the Police Commission yesterday evinced an inclination to banish games of all descriptions from saloons.

Police Commissioner Johnson sounded the keynote of the new crusade in saloons when he spoke right out in meeting saying: "I think it is a mistake to have games of any kind in a saloon. I think it is a great mistake."

Half a dozen saloon owners who were gathered in the commission room to ask the commissioners for minor concessions sank back into their chairs and shivered.

This outbreak on Mr. Johnson's part was occasioned by an application of Louis Galati, an Italian saloonkeeper in Sonoma town, for permission to place billiard and pool tables in the rear of his place.

Commissioner Johnson moved that the application be denied.

Commissioner Mason wanted to know more about the situation. "How many saloons have billiard or pool tables attached to them?" he asked of Chief of Police Hammel.

"I should judge about seven-eighths of the saloons in the city," replied the chief.

Again Mr. Johnson said he thinks such justice is a mistake.

"I think it is a bad custom," said Commissioner Mason, "but if we reject this application it would behoove us to do something with the other saloons which are enjoying the privilege of operating billiard tables in conjunction with their bars. I would like to see some one to quantify this question before taking action."

Commissioner James suggested that Galati's application be referred back to the Chief of Police for further investigation. Commissioner Johnson withdrew his original motion for a rejection of the application, substituting a motion along the lines suggested by Mr. James. Then the saloon men were given time to make a reply.

But trouble appeared to be coming on the trail of the stampeded holders of liquor licenses. It looked up later in the session, when Commissioner Galati moved that the Chief of Police be authorized to furnish the commission with a list of the saloons which hold restaurant liquor licenses, and of those saloonkeepers who hold wholesale liquor licenses.

Before this motion was finally put, the commission was informed, however, by modifying the content of the chief to present at the next meeting of the commission a list of the saloons of the city, retail and wholesale, liquor licenses, together with the location for which each license is granted.

This in itself looks innocent enough, but to the holders of certain restaurant liquor licenses, and, it is averred, to at least two holders of saloon licenses, it is fraught with danger.

When the present saloon and restaurant liquor laws were established by the Council it was agreed that persons holding licenses outside should be permitted to continue in business, but that the licenses could not be transferred and when the holder retired the license should become void.

It is claimed there are now certain restaurant liquor licenses that are still carried in the name of persons who have been out of the business for years.

One of the questionable licenses is held by a restaurant near Westlake Park, another by one on South Main street, and a third on San Pedro street.

A retail liquor license on East Seventh street is also placed in jeopardy. City Attorney Matthews has asked that the holder of the license on a boundary street of the saloon should extend but to the middle of the street named in the ordinance.

Seventh street at the point in question is a boundary street of the saloon on the south side of Seventh street. The license is still held at that location.

BOARD TO INVESTIGATE.
MORE LICENSE TRIBULATIONS.
T. C. Bowe's troubles over securing transfer of a saloon license from San Fernando street, to No. 218, South Spring street are not over. The indications are that they have just begun.

Attorney Walter Haas, representing South Spring-street property holders, yesterday morning protested to the Police Commission that the now defunct commission had shown wretchedly bad form in granting Bowe his transfer when he held the written consent of less than one-fourth the property frontage in the block.

Mr. Haas asked that the commission reconsider the action of its predecessor.

After the regular session members of the commission learned that the applicant, T. C. Bowe, has a somewhat motley record in the liquor business in Los Angeles. He was the proprietor of the once-notorious Phoenix Club at the end of the Vernon car line, which was two years ago closed by the police. Bowe pleaded guilty in the Police Court to selling liquor without license, and was heavily fined. No mention of this part of Bowe's record was made in the Chief's report at the time Bowe was granted the license for his San Fernando-street saloon, or in the report to the Police Commission on his application for a transfer from San Fernando street to South Spring street.

In his argument before the Police Commission Mr. Haas said that as soon as Bowe secured the license, he was charged with the murder of Christian D. Frey at a cock fight, returned a verdict of "guilty of involuntary manslaughter." The law provides for this crime imprisonment for not less than one year nor more than ten years.

Carpenier, acting as a deputy of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, shot Frey on the morning of May 1, 1904, while the latter was attempting to escape arrest by diving off a buggy. The bullet from the officer's revolver passed through the back-rest of the buggy seat and entered Frey's back, causing death soon afterward.

The case went to the jury at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after a trial lasting several days. Under the law as given by the court, the jury could find any one of five verdicts: Murder in the first degree, murder in the second degree, manslaughter, involuntary manslaughter, and acquittal. They decided, in effect, that Carpenier fired the shot that killed Frey, and that in so doing he committed an unlawful act without malice; therefore they deemed him guilty of the crime of involuntary manslaughter.

The jury was polled six times before a verdict was reached. The first poll was to determine whether the defendant should be held or acquitted, and it is understood that the vote was in favor of holding him.

On the second poll all twelve jurors voted guilty, then leaving for determination the degree. There was considerable argument in the jury room over the mysterious question which all the testimony and evidence of the trial had failed to account for. Nunnally's charge also took some time to reach, and his written instructions were gone over several times before the unanimous opinions of several jurors were united.

The court had ruled, in accordance with the plain reading of the law, that an officer is not justified in shooting an escaping person when the offense for which the person is to be arrested is a misdemeanor, but that a man who is a felon to justify the shooting.

But Carpenier's plea was that he shot in the face, meaning the bullet passed through the forehead.

Earl Rogers, counsel for Carpenier, was seriously hindered in his presentation of the case by the fact that a hospital against his physician's orders to go on with the trial.

CLOSING THE CASE.
The larger part of the case was taken up by the arguments of the jury of counsel, closing the case. H. T. Gage, and it was a unique as well as a vigorous analysis of the testimony. All Rogers had stated in his address to the jury was that a man who is a felon to justify the shooting.

But Carpenier's plea was that he shot in the face, meaning the bullet passed through the forehead.

"INVOLUNTARY MANSLAUGHTER," SAYS THE JURY.

Sentence Will be Pronounced Friday Morning—Officer's Punishment May be Imprisonment for Not Less Than One Nor More Than Ten Years, Says the Law.

At 9 o'clock last night, after having been out four and one-half hours, the jury in the case of C. N. Carpenier, charged with the murder of Christian D. supposed to have literally fallen off the water wagon at the corner of Seventh and San Pedro streets early in December. He was found lying there at the point of death.

At the County Hospital it developed that Prohl was an employee of the street cleaning department. The day after he was admitted it was given out that he had died. That was on December 4, and the Public Administrator began to make inquiries. He hadn't gone very far before he learned that Prohl was not only dead, but that his life time of long life was very meager.

It now turns out that Prohl was no pauper. Public Administrator McGarrin yesterday discovered that during his lifetime Prohl in his off hours from duty lived in a cubby hole of a room at No. 855 Maple avenue. The room is only about 6 feet by 8, and no one had entered it for sixteen years but Prohl thought it was his strictly.

The furniture being limited to two or three pieces. A book was found showing that the deceased had $400 deposited in the Farmers and Merchants' National Bank, and now the Public Administrator will have to hunt for the heirs.

"WET OR DRY?" REASIDE.

Bested Occident Park incorporated its voted "dry" on the liquor proposition, but after the incorporation the new city could do as it pleased, and the question has been up before the Superior Court since the vote of "dry" in the old Ocean Park precinct is to be held as binding on the district outside the new incorporation, and which is no longer dominated by Ocean Park proper.

By the way, we are to expect a lot of freaks as one might reasonably expect to find. Some of the home-bred ones have already been heard there were fruits called citron which they believe that they were grown elsewhere in the tropics. Their personal experience could not be proved by their eyes, would suffice to change the belief that citron could be grown here. You could have any of them if you wanted a chance at all for the products of your State or section. I am continually reminding them of the time, and of some things that they had completely forgotten.

"Of things, carloads of exhibits, we are returning seventeen carloads. Two carloads came in today, and the others will come in tomorrow. I am here to the Chamber of Commerce, where they may be distributed. A. J. P. and the other company, and have gone to Portland. Five carloads of State material have gone there, and will be taken care of by him.

"In regard to the Chamber building was the most remarkable on the grounds, and attracted much attention from the people. I am glad to say that you a State secret when I declare that Chamber of Commerce picnic was never held there. The Chamber of Commerce and other State buildings had formal receptions to which they issued considerable invitations, and at which refreshments were served. I would like to go up every day, and the people would like to go up and tell their friends to come and see the place. I am glad to say they are having one of their nice parties. So, when they came we served more than 1000 people. I am glad to say we kept the reception joke going all the week through. Oh, we fooled 'em all right. I am glad to say the State was in reality one of the features of the fair. Thousands through the fair, and thousands here to see to learn it.

"California gained celebrity through the indefatigable work of the various committees representing it. Out of the California building open every morning at 9 o'clock, and they ran a continuous program. Out of the building at 11 o'clock at night. All the other buildings opened at 9 o'clock and closed at 11 o'clock. I am glad to say every day, and had five lectures every afternoon. The various counties were represented by their own shows and descriptions of their lands and products. There were given to all comers free of charge. On the California representative stand, I am glad to say that the California badges 20,000 were given out, but my impression of this is that they were not used.

"The boom California received will doubtless be one of the most valuable of the fair. I am glad to say that it is of sufficient importance to appreciate and verify. The county representatives were there to see the show, they were there to boom their home and some pretty straight letters would have gone back from the committee members' headquarters. Yes, of course, it's a little late, and kept going at a rapid pace until almost midnight. For instance, though I probably entered every outline of importance, I saw, but little of the exhibits—there were scarcely any that I could pay any prolonged attention to, hadn't any time."

Wiggins today is the Wiggins of a year ago. His hair is grayer, his eyes more gray in his hirsute adornments, has apparently neither lost nor added flesh. He says he feels in his shape.

Arriving at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, he went immediately to his desk and sat down to work. He thought he had left it but an hour before.

Today the Chamber of Commerce election will be held.

ALMANACS FOR A LAST YEAR, BUT THE MARKET AWAY.

THE M. W. R. HEARST GETS
THE MARKET AWAY.

Serious-Minded Efforts to Sell New Ones for a Quarter Countered by Flooding the Market With Almanacs for 1904 and 1903 at Fifteen Cents and Ten Cents.

[New York Sun, January 1:] Before you buy an almanac in these early days of the New Year yearling, take the date of publication. The Hon. William Randolph Hearst is having his little New Year joke at the expense of the dear people.

Yesterday, while the serious-minded newspaper men were trying to sell, in Park Row, almanacs for the Christmas grace 1905 at 25 cents per, there were, for sale in opposition several large loads of left-over copies of the "American Almanac, Year Book, Cyclopedia."

1904, which were sold at 10 cents and 15 cents. The two-year-olds brought $1.00, and the three-year-olds $1.50. And how they did sell. The managements of the World and the Tribune were not slow to see the possibilities. They were the only papers which were not on the list of those who were paying 25 cents for one of these when a bigger book, with more news and editorial matter, in forty blue boards could be had for a dime. The selling agents, mature and unscrupulous, were not slow to see the possibilities of saying anything about the date of publication, and few of the purchasers asked questions.

The point of distribution was Bridge Arch No. 2. On the interior walls of the arch were large signs bearing this legend:

POSITIVELY NO SMOKING.
.....
W. R. HEART.

Gathered around the depot of distribution were fakers of all sorts, who, with money in their hands waiting to buy the number of ancient almanacs they had in their crates, handed out to them. The prevailing market price was about eight cents apiece, although, while there was a supply of the 1904 edition, the price for the 1905 was $1.00, so the fakers said, were nine cents.

Once loaded up, the selling agents hurried to the depot, and, taking up their stand "in front of the sub-treasury, where bricks of real gold were sold, and above the entrance to Wall Street men bought the same without any question.

"I've sold a lot of Mr. Heart's little joke was sought at the business office of his paper.

"I've sold the cashier, 'you see, we had a lot of these old almanacs on hand and we wanted to get rid of them, because we were saving up others to sell this year. We're not leasing a 1905 almanac. So, as I understand it, the whole lot of old ones were sold to one man and he sold them to you.' I could. But they're fine books. I've got one of 'em the 1904 edition, which I bought just last year for 50 cents for the lot. The books are about as good as they were when published, and the people who buy them for 10 cents, I tell you, it's one of the

the greatest bargain ever.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

MISS LOUISE NIXON HILL

MISS LOUISE NIXON HILL, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hill, of No. 117 West Adams street, has cards out for two informal "pat homes" to be given on the third and fourth Wednesdays of January, complimentary to her sister, Mrs. William Peterson of Chicago and Miss Louise Nixon Hill, who formerly lived here, but has been for the past year and a half studying music under Madame Johanna Hoff-Burr in Chicago. At this time Miss Hill will have the company with music, and as she is well known here, a large number of her friends will be interested in hearing her. Miss Hill is a charming and daintily pretty girl, and during her residence here was one of the most popular of the young crowd. She is possessed of a splendid musical talent to voice, which under the tutelage of Madame Hoff-Burr has grown in volume and range until her teacher predicts a fine future for her.

While in the East, Miss Hill appeared in concert, giving what she called "Three Centuries of American Ballads" in concert. The first of these ballads given were those brought from England by the wives and daughters of the men settling Virginia and Maryland, in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. They were sung to the lute and harpsichord, and were a factor in the social life of that period. In singing these ballads Miss Hill appears in a Colonial costume of blue and gold brocade with powdered hair piled high, and a saucy patch on her cheek. When singing "Rouni Rouni Sweet Bessie" and the songs of the antebellum days, she wears the many-furrowed skirt with hoops, the quaint silk mitts, hair parted demurely, with curls over the shoulders. The songs of the present day are in modern costume and of course bring out the power and range of her voice. The others show the versatility of the singer.

Miss Hill will be heard here later in these songs, as she intends remaining through the winter with her sister, Mrs. Davies. It will be remembered that while here Miss Hill was a pupil of Frederick Stevenson, and sang in one of the large church choirs here.

For Miss Bangs.

Miss Katharine Mellus of West Adams street has issued a party of young friends this evening, with concert party at the Canteen to hear Miss Bangs. The party will be given complimentary to Miss Bangs, who is visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. M. Van Dyke.

Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart of No. 1857 West Twenty-second street entertained about fifty friends last evening at an informal card party. The house was decked with roses and carnations, with a mingling of ferns and smilax. Books were marked on cards adorned with photographic studies, and pretty prizes were given to the fortunate contestants. Later, refreshments were served in the dining-room, where a handsome decoration scheme prevailed.

For Miss Guyer.

Miss Anne Holmes of Hotel Green, Pasadena, gave a luncheon yesterday complimentary to Miss Lillian Guyer and Miss Alma McCauley, two popular friends. The table was decked in Marguerites and greenery, a great basket of the dainty flowers being on the center of the table. Places were marked with cards hand-painted in the shape of Marguerites, and tied with broad satin ribbons, on each of which was etched the name of a guest. The luncheon was served in the private dining-room, and during luncheon music was discoursed by an orchestra. Chorus were laid for Mrs. Edward Green, the Misses Lila, Lett and Riverside, Marian McElvray, Blanche McCauley, Mabel Sauer, and Jessie Thomas of Pasadena. Margaret Lee, Harriet Severance, Alice Wynne and Sarah Booth of Los Angeles. Miss Guyer and Miss McCauley were married on the evening of the 18th inst. Miss McCauley will become the bride of John D. Holmes next Saturday evening.

ALL SEE UPSIDE DOWN.

Scientists Hold that Upright Vision is Acquired Gradually by Children.

[Chicago Tribune:] Local physicians at Lakeview, Iowa, have been interested in the case of eight-year-old Paul Taylor, who sees things upside down. He does not belong to the fanciful race of the Head Hoppers, either. Simply looking out upon the world of every day he gets the impression that the sky is where the ground ought to be, and he sees other things upside down. When he writes his letters with his right hand the sentences run from right to left, and the letters themselves appear upside down.

Odd beyond even this interesting statement the average reader will consider the theory of Dr. Albert B. Hale, who maintains that every other child at one period of its life saw things in just this way, and continued to do so for a more or less lengthened period, until its educated faculties admitted of its subconscious reversal of the inverted image pictured upon the retina. Dr. Hale is one of the admitted authorities upon this subject in Chicago, and has made an exhaustive study of the phenomenon of "mirror writing" in children and in the mentally unbalanced. This "mirror writing" is such as the Iowa boy produces, and of its effect upon the child he says:

"The outer world is impressed upon the retina in an inverted image. It is only by experience, and, incidentally, acquired, that we learn to interpret this image and to produce upright writing. The child and the feeble-minded lack this experience or inability to acquire it. reproduce the visual image in incorrect spatial relation, hence in 'mirror' writing. This is not infrequently the adult who may be suddenly deprived of this experience is reduced to primitive conditions, and hence produces the same results that we see in the child."

"In a general way it may be said that the infant has no sense of right or left. It sees nothing more than a blurred light in a room; it has no sense of direction, and it may even walk into a closed door as if in expectation of its giving way, and when the door does not fall aside it may walk into the wall in the same manner—learning everywhere as it goes."

"In the gain of knowledge, the child is still correcting his vision when he has been walking and talking for weeks or months. Not infrequently, the adult, unused to writing, will paint a sign and make these letters wrong—all because of an uncorrected child vision of them."

"The manner in which the inverted image on the retina is made upright is something over which the doctors disagree. One of the earliest of these explanations was that the one nerve fiber connecting the retina with the brain, the optic nerve, was attached higher on the brain, the left and right nerves winding in the same relative manner, thus serving to invert completely the image cast upon the retina."

In recognition of space, as it appears to the eye, Prof. Stratton has insisted that it is easier to recognize up and down in their space relations than it is to recognize right and left. The professor put himself as nearly as possible in the place of the child by the adjustment of his eyes before his eyes in which the retinal image was received without inversion. In this condition, notwithstanding his wide sensory education, he found himself in an extremely awkward situation.

Something akin to this experiment with the lens is that which confronts the person looking into a mirror in order to give his hands in some unusual adjustment of a tie or other difficult manual adjustment of some complicated mechanism.
